Financial and Environmental Crime Researcher

Department:	Insight	Location:	London / Abu Dhabi / Dubai
Reports to:	Head of Research	Role Type:	Permanent
Reported to by:	N/A	Position:	Financial and Environmental Crime Researcher
About Themis:	Themis is a certified B-Corp firm that works with clients to identify and manage their specific financial crime risks, through a combination of insight, intelligence and innovation. Our goal is to reduce the global impacts of financial crime. Financial crime is a very real and evolving problem. It has been described as “a cancer on our society” and “an issue of international security”. Not only is the scale of illicit activity in the trillions of £s, but the impact on all of our businesses, the economy and society is profound. Our award-winning technology platform helps organisations understand these strategic threats through an ESG and socio-economic lens and protects their customers, staff, suppliers and shareholders from criminal attacks or association. In this way, we are fuelling sustainable change in the public and private sectors.

Impact:	Themis is a socially responsible, purpose-driven business that works to meet the highest standards of verified social and business performance, public transparency, and legal accountability to balance profit and purpose. We were recently named a 2022 'Best for the World' B Corp™ in recognition of our exceptional positive impact on Governance. Our Impact achievements and commitments in 2022 can be read about in our Impact Report here. The positive impact of Themis is multiplied by the Themis Foundation that directs and raises additional funds to support the victims of underlying predicate crimes. As a Signatory of the United Nations Global Compact, we are proud to be part of a global network of over 9,500 companies and 3,000 non-business participants that are committed to building a sustainable future. Our business is fully aligned with the UN Global Compact principles, and the objectives of the UN Sustainable Development Goals lie at the heart of everything we do.
Job purpose:	We are looking for a Financial and Environmental Crime Researcher to carry out threat-based research and stakeholder liaison on a range of themes related to financial and environmental crime, particularly pertaining to the Middle East and North Africa (MENA) region. Successful candidates will have several years of experience in a research role either in the public or private sector. Over the past year, our Insight projects have included: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> ● In-depth research projects on the illicit gold trade and the illegal wildlife trade. ● Jurisdictional financial crime risk reports covering countries in the Middle East and West Africa. ● White papers on topics like money laundering in the real estate sector or the links between financial crime and climate change. ● Podcast interviews with leading journalists about groundbreaking investigations like the Panama Papers or the Wirecard probe.

	Given that the scope of our work is broad, our emphasis is not on sector-specific expertise but on excellent research, writing and communication skills, as well as on demonstrated engagement with environmental or financial crime issues. Having said that, specific thematic knowledge of illicit mining, deforestation and related environmental crimes would be an advantage, given that these topics will represent a significant area of focus for Themis in 2023-2024. Themis is a great organisation to join if you are looking for rewarding, meaningful and intellectually stimulating work. We are a friendly team that thrives on working together, supporting each other and celebrating success.
Responsibilities:	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> ● Drafting reports for Themis clients, drawing on desktop research primary data. We have a varied range of Insight clients including government ministries, financial institutions and technology firms. ● Carrying out research interviews and helping run stakeholder workshops. ● Drafting country financial crime risk reports examining financial and environmental crime threats as well as legal and regulatory approaches in the MENA region. ● Analysing recent financial and environmental crime news stories and regulatory developments for the Themis blog and newsletter. ● Contributing to the generation of new research ideas, including in partnership with public sector bodies. ● Supporting the curation and scripting of Themis webinars, podcasts and other research-related events.
Experience required:	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> ● A degree in a social sciences, humanities or a finance-related field. ● Previous experience conducting research in a public or private sector context - gathering information, analysing data, drawing conclusions and writing up findings in an engaging style. ● A demonstrable interest in global current affairs, the financial services industry, and the impact of financial and

	environmental crime on businesses, communities and the planet. <ul style="list-style-type: none"> ● Previous professional experience in a financial or environmental crime related role is desirable but not necessary.
Skills required:	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> ● Demonstrated research and analytical skills. ● Excellent communication and interpersonal skills. ● Outstanding written skills - an ability to write clear, concise and engaging reports and articles in English. ● High attention to detail and accuracy. ● Strong organisational skills, including an ability to multitask and prioritise to meet deadlines. ● The ability to assimilate and analyse information about diverse unfamiliar topics, including under time pressure. ● The ability to work both independently and as part of a team. ● A can-do attitude and proactive approach.
